Can you solve these riddles/interview questions?

Lightbulb Exercise

A windowless room contains three identical light fixtures, each containing an identical light bulb. Each light is connected to one of three switches outside of the room. Each bulb is switched off at present. You are outside the room, and the door is closed. You have one, and only one, opportunity to flip any of the external switches. After this, you can go into the room and look at the lights, but you may not touch the switches again. How can you tell which switch goes to which light?

The Answer!

- Turn on two switches and leave them on for a few minutes
- Turn one of the switches off
- Go into the room, the one that's lit is the one that the switch that was left on
- Touch the other two bulbs, the one that is still warm is controlled by the other switch that was turned on, then off
- The cold one is controlled by the switch that was never turned on

Fruit Exercise

An apple costs 40 cents, a banana costs 60 cents, and a grapefruit costs 80 cents. How much does a pear cost?

The Answer: There isn't a specific one!

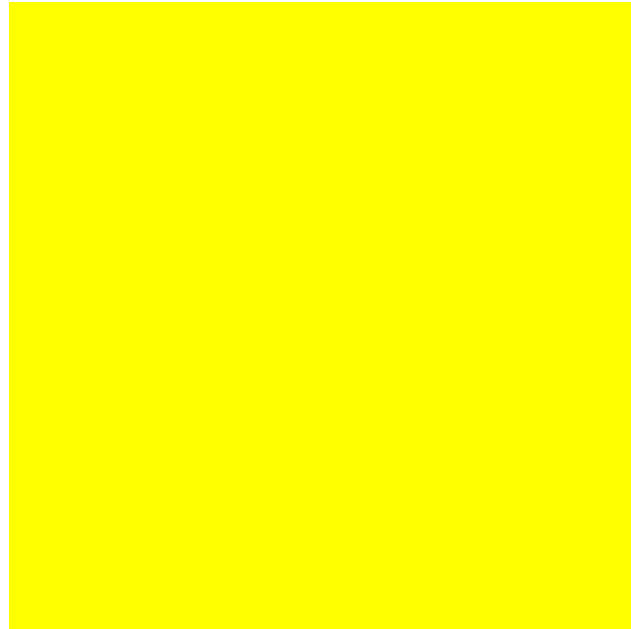

These riddles are more about your thinking process, not that you get the right answer!

Wheel of Fortune Example:

If you charge 20 cents per vowel, the two-vowel word "apple" would cost 40 cents, three-vowel "banana" 60 cents, and four-vowel "grapefruit" 80 cents. Therefore a pear would cost 40 cents.

How would you describe the color yellow to a blind person?
